

unequalled spatial and temporal resolution. This sediment budget will then be used to refine and publish circum-Arctic estimates of input of organic carbon, nitrogen and phosphorus to the nearshore zone, contributing datasets to international programs on coastal geochemical budgets.

The Team